St. Petersburg, Russia

PORT EXPLORER and SHOPPING GUIDE

GENERAL INFORMATION St. Petersburg is situated on the eastern shore of the Gulf of Finland, in the delta of the River Neva, some 400 miles north-west of Moscow. It is considered the most European of all the great cities of Russia, and a living monument to the opulent days of Imperialism. The City, with a population of over 5 million inhabitants, boasts the largest sea port in the country and is an important maritime center. It is built on a series of islands spread over a wide area, in an attractive plan of large squares, parks, boulevards and broad streets. A network of 60 rivers and canals criss-cross the City and are spanned by about 400 bridges, making it reminiscent of Venice or Amsterdam. The principal waterway is the River Neva which is contained within impressive granite banks, and it was along this river that Russian classicism flourished. The central city is dominated by 18th and 19th century baroque, neo-classical architecture.

St. Petersburg is relatively young for a European city and less than three centuries have passed since the first structure, Peter and Paul Fortress, was built by Peter the Great in 1703. However, it has a rich cultural and political history, being both the home of the Imperial Royal Family and the cradle of the Proletarian Revolution, for it was here that Lenin began his revolutionary activity and laid the foundations of the Communist Party. Today St. Petersburg is the most popular tourist city in the country for both Russian and foreign visitors.

SHORE EXCURSIONS To make the most of your visit to St. Petersburg and its surrounding areas we suggest you take one of our organized Shore Excursions. For information concerning tour content and pricing consult your Shore Excursion Order Form or contact the Shore Excursion Desk. When going ashore, be advised to take with you only necessary items and secure any valuables onboard.

LOCAL CUSTOMS Bargaining: Bargaining is expected when dealing with street vendors or in markets.

Tipping: Tipping is becoming a widely accepted practice, a good guideline is between 10 and 15% in restaurants where there is no service charge, and for taxi fares.

LOCAL CUISINE AND DRINK SPECIALITIES Typical Russian dishes include; Borsht, a beetroot soup, Beef Stroganoff, thin slices of beef braised with mushrooms, onions and sour cream, and perhaps the best-known, Chicken Kiev, chicken breasts wrapped around garlic butter, usually breaded and sautéed. The Russians are also famous for their Caviar (Sturgeon's roe) small, black eggs, slightly salty, served with finely chopped hard-boiled egg and onion with miniature pancakes (blinis).

Vodka is the favorite here, drunk ice cold, as a shot. There are a wide range of Vodkas available, many with subtle flavorings such as pepper or lemon or some other fruit. There are several quite acceptable wines produced locally and the Russian Brandys are quite comparable. Bottled water is recommended.

Many of the places of interest in and around St. Petersburg may be subject to charges for photography. It is advisable to check on entering if you wish to take photographs or use video equipment.

LOCAL CURRENCY The unit of currency in Russia is the Ruble. Notes are available in the following denominations: 10, 50, 100 and 1000. Coins are issued in amounts of 5, 10, 50 Kopecks with 100 Kopecks in a Rouble. Exchange facilities are available at most of the larger hotels and official banks or currency exchange offices found throughout the city. It is not recommended to exchange currency on the street.

POST OFFICE AND TELEPHONE FACILITIES The central Post Office is located at Konnogvardejsky bulvar, 4. International calls can be placed from the St. Petersburg International and Domestic Telephone Exchange and Business Centre with pre-purchased phonecards, available in various denominations. It is located at 3/5 Bolshoya Morskaya St. between the Hermitage Museum and Nevsky Prospekt. Some hotels have satellite telephone booths from which international calls can be placed.

TOURIST INFORMATION The official Tourist Information Office is located on Nevsky Prospect, 41. Most hotels provide information services for guests or otherwise, although there is generally a fee.

TRANSPORTATION Taxis are available at the MAIN gate, however, few drivers will speak English, thus it is advisable to have your destination and the ship's berth written down. It is important to negotiate a fare prior to departing and recommended to travel with a companion and not to hail a cab with more than one person in it.

St. Petersburg has a bus and tram system, but neither are recommended for use by our passengers. Those guests wishing to use taxis must have an independent visa.

The SIGHTS and SHOPPING of ST. PETERSBURG

- 1 PETER AND PAUL FORTRESS was built in 1703 to protect the area from Swedish invasion, and the first site chosen by Peter the Great to build his new city. Inside the impressive Citadel is the former Royal Mint and the Peter and Paul Cathedral, with its tall slender golden spire which was the City's first monumental building and the burial place of all Russian Czars. In 1924 it became a museum.
- 2 BATTLESHIP AURORA, moored on the Neva off the Petrovskaya embankment, is a veteran of the Russian-Japanese War and its guns signalled the historic assault by Revolutionaries on the Winter Palace in 1917.
- 3 ST. ISAAC'S CATHEDRAL is St. Petersburg's largest church, situated on the side of Decemberists Square. Built between 1818 and 1858, it is decorated with 14 kinds of minerals and semi-precious stones as well as mosaic paintings.
- 4 HERMITAGE MUSEUM, located on Palace Square, is one of the world's greatest treasuries of fine and applied art with over 3 million exhibits. This enormous collection vies for attention with the impressive building and its furnishings.
- 5 The RUSSIAN MUSEUM, housed in the former Mikhailovsky Palace, contains a large collection of Russian Art, some 300,000 examples of paintings, sculptures and icons.

Beyond St. Petersburg

TSARSKOYE SELO, once known as the Czar's Village or Pushkin, is approximately 17 miles south of the City and the site of Catherine's Palace. Built between 1719-1723 and restored many times, it has a stunning aqua colored facade, decorated with statues, gold and white ornaments and topped with gold onion domes. Inside is an immense collection of art work and furnishings. This, as with all the palaces in the area, was heavily damaged by retreating German forces, but is now almost completely restored.

PAVLOVSK, just two miles from Pushkin, the Palace was a former residence of the Czars, built in the 18th century. A more unassuming structure compared with the lavish facade of Catherine's Palace, its interior is still a beautiful repository of priceless paintings, sculptures and furnishings. The Palace is set in a 1,500 acre park.

PETERHOF is situated on the southern shore of the Gulf of Finland, about 22 miles southwest of St. Petersburg. Also known as Petrodvorets, it was founded in 1710 as a summer residence for Peter the Great. Altered and extended over the years, it was almost completely rebuilt between 1747 and 1754. Inside the Grand Palace are many splendid displays of art, decorative objects and furniture. The Palace over-looks a vista of spreading gardens and fountains.
